GENERAL FACULTIES COUNCIL

The regular meeting of General Faculties Council was held Monday evening, June 23, 1975.

TRIBUTE

Council paid tribute to Henry Kreisel, who attended his last Council meeting as Vice-President (Academic). Lorne Leitch, Vice-President (Finance and Administration) noted that Dr. Kreisel has been a member of General Faculties Council continuously for 16 years. Dr. Kreisel will return to teaching duties in the Department of English after a sabbatical leave.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE

Members approved a motion of R.D. Bercov, Associate Professor of Mathematics, which proposed a new policy on replacement of members on the Nominating Committee: "That the names of Executive Committee nominees for election to the General Faculties Council Nominating Committee be circulated to members of General Faculties Council and that if members submit additional nominations to the Secretary by 4:30 p.m. on the last working day before the next General Faculties Council meeting there be an election by ballot at that meeting."

Following approval of the motion, Council elected R.B.J. MacNab, Professor of Physical Education, and R. Silvester, Associate Professor of Art and Design, to the Nominating Committee.

BOARD JOINT COMMITTEE ON UNIVERSITY LEGISLATION

Members elected D.F. Cameron, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, to represent General Faculties Council on the Board Joint Committee on University Legislation. Dr. Cameron replaces G. Fridman, Dean of the Faculty of Law, on the committee.

Council also approved a motion of Myer Horowitz, Vice-President (Academic), that the Executive Committee of General Faculties Council strike a committee to examine the new University legislation prepared by the Department of Advanced Education.

CONFIDENTIALITY OF STUDENT RECORDS

Members debated at length the matter of confidentiality of student records with regard to research involving them. Present policy states that "Where access to student records is sought for the purposes of research, such access may be granted by the Executive Committee of General Faculties Council on such terms as may be necessary to ensure the confidentiality of individual student records."

Student members of Council said that they did not approve of other students using their files for research purposes, and expressed a concern for their confidentiality. No such concern, however, was expressed for similar research by academics. Students' Union President Graeme Leadbeater said that he felt the academics "have the best interests of the students at heart, whereas students might not feel that way."

Several academics expressed surprise at this "double standard." David Rankin, Professor of Physics, wondered whether students were against research in any form. J.R. McGregor, Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, felt that the attitude should be extended to both students and academics, if it was to be used at all. In response, Mr. Leadbeater said that the principal student concern involves individual confidentiality. If somehow names could be removed from the file, then there would be no difficulty regarding research by any approved group.

Myer Horowitz, Vice-President (Academic), stated that Executive Committee does not approve applications for research involving student records in a carte blanche sort of manner. Any such application is given careful consideration and study, and permission will be given only if confidentiality is assured in a satisfactory way.

Council then approved a motion of D.A. MacKay, Professor and Chairman of Elementary Education, which revised the policy to read: "Where access to student records is sought for purposes of research, such access may be granted by the Executive Committee of General Faculties Council only if the researcher provides mechanisms that will delete student names before the data are collected."

WRITING SKILLS OF UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS

Council approved a motion to strike a committee to examine the problems encountered in writing and communication skills of undergraduate students.

The matter first arose in a motion from the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry, which expressed concern for "the poor writing skills demonstrated by undergraduate students."

R.G. Baldwin, Dean of the Faculty of Arts, agreed with the Agriculture and Forestry motion, and noted that the Department of English had undertaken a study of Arts students and had found a similar problem. He also noted that a positive form of remedial action existed with English Language Services, a body which helped students whose native language was other than English, but which was a 1973 victim of budget constraints.

The new committee will be struck by the Nominating Committee, and will examine the situation and make recommendations.

PARKING STALLS

Members approved the following recommendations of D. Fenna, Associate Vice-President (Planning and Development):

1. The number of private parking stalls is reduced from 490 to 390 for 1975-76.
2. Physical Plant will regroup and assign the various private stalls in such a manner as will maximize the utilization of the overall inventory of campus parking space.

ART AWARD TO BE PRESENTED

Illingworth Kerr, one of Canada's most distinguished painters of prairie landscapes and animal life, will receive the University's 1975 Award in Painting and Related Arts. It will be presented Friday, July 11 at the scholarship and awards night at the Banff Centre, School of Fine Arts.

The University's National Awards in Letters, Painting and Related Arts, and Music were established in 1951; they are presented on a rotating basis. The 1972 Painting and Related Arts award went to John Chambers.

3. A policy review will be held at this time next year with respect to the provision of private stalls for the 1976-77 academic year.

Dr. Fenna explained that the reason for the reduction of the number of private stalls lies in the fact that they are used less efficiently than zone stalls. A private stall can be used only by the holder, whereas zone parking areas are traditionally "oversold" (about 120 percent of capacity). This means that of a total of 5,290 spaces, more than 6,000 permits holders can be accommodated.

In a memo to the Campus Development Committee, Dr. Fenna wrote that "of the 490 [private] stalls, the picture in April was that only 350 were sold to staff . . . 83 sold to others (including some 30 to paraplegics and HUB merchants), and 59 were unsold. . . . The non-use of so many stalls and the resulting loss of revenue . . . adds to the cost of parking. . . . It is clear that the present stock of private stalls could be reduced by about 100."

MORE ABOUT THE EDUGRAPHIC CONFERENCE

- About 200 designers are expected to attend the meetings of the International Council of Graphic Design Associations (ICOGRADA) to be held on campus July 7 to 12. These are the people who, in their individual countries, are responsible for much of the best graphic design to be seen, be it on paper, film, or videotape. Books, periodicals, packaging, exhibitions, newspaper and television advertisements, posters, and airport and transport signs are some everyday examples of work where graphic designers are or should be involved.

The conference will be opened by Robbins Elliott, Director General of the Office of Design, Ottawa, at 2:30 p.m. Monday, July 7 in the Audiovisual Lecture Theatre of the Humanities Centre. Co-hosts of the conference are the Society of Graphic Designers of Canada and The University of Alberta. Support is also being given by various agencies of the federal government, and the provincial government is to give a reception and dinner for the delegates at which the speaker will be Horst Schmidt, Minister of Public Services and Culture.

Highlights of the program are listed in "This Week and Next," and it will be seen that a wide range of subjects is to be covered. Simultaneous translation will be provided for the main lectures given in full assembly. Volunteer translators will be available to assist in group discussions. These will be held each afternoon between 2:15 and 5 p.m., and each group is expected to produce a report of the results of the day's discussions.

Films and slide presentations will be given, and these will be open to the public. Times are given in "This Week and Next." Also listed are the titles and venues of the various exhibitions to be mounted for the conference.

Further information about the conference and its programs may be obtained by calling the Graphics Division of the Department of Art and Design, 432-5557.

KLONDIKE MELODRAMA AT THE LIBRARY THEATRE

Prestige Productions are presenting The Drunkard or The Fallen Saved, a classic melodrama, for Klondike Days. It will be staged nightly at 8 p.m. in the Centennial Library Theatre, beginning with a grand premiere on July 12.

This is the great and tragic tale of young Edward who mysteriously becomes a drunkard, and drifts to New York, deserting his wife and children who are hounded by the villainous lawyer Cribbs. Just as mysteriously, however, Edward is saved and restored to respectability in the last moments of the play. How the villain is caught, the hero saved, mad Agnes restored to sanity, and the good old William restored to his sister, are the prime elements of suspense and drama that make these authentic old melodramas such hilarious entertainment for modern day audiences.

There will be the added enjoyment of a Klondike sing-song after the show, and refreshments will be available.

BASIC HATHA YOGA

An eight-week course in basic hatha yoga will commence July 9. Sessions are held each Wednesday evening from 8:30 to 9:30 in the Graduate Students' Lounge, 14th floor, Henry Marshall Tory Building. For more information contact Hubert Dhanaraj at 427-2015, extension 2, or 439-7897.

FIRST CERAMICS SURVEY AT THE GALLERY

An exhibition entitled "The history of ceramics in Alberta," will be opened by C. Les Usher, Deputy Minister of Culture, at 8:30 p.m., Friday, July 11 at the Edmonton Art Gallery. It looks at the development of ceramics in the province from both the industrial and artistic points of view.

In 1910 the production of brick and tile was begun by Alberta Clay Products Ltd., in Medicine Hat and in 1915 the making of dinnerware and giftware was started by Medalta Potteries Ltd. Historically, however, the development of industrial ceramics and ceramics as an art form have not been mutually exclusive; many ceramists have worked in both fields. In the late 1940s and early 1950s ceramic artists and educators, Luke Lindoe and Sibyl Laubental introduced the concept of the "artist-potter," which revolutionized the ceramic scene and elevated ceramics to an art form. A ceramics department was established at the Alberta College of Art in 1947 and, in 1956, Alberta artist Sibyl Laubental became the first Canadian potter to win a prize in the Ceramic National Competition sponsored by the Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts.

In the early 1960s Alberta ceramists achieved national recognition with numerous representations in a cross-country exhibition entitled "Canadian Ceramic '61." Alberta artists in the show included Luke Lindoe, Walt Drohan, Walt Dexter, Wilma Baker, and two of Sibyl Laubental's students. In the late 60s Alberta saw the arrival of such qualified ceramic instructors as Bert Borch, John Chalke, Santo Mignosa, Vic Brosz, Jane Van Alderwegan, David Green, and Charles Hilton who are still Alberta residents and contributing to the contemporary art scene.

A major development was the formation of the Alberta Potters' Association (APA), in 1970. This heralded the first world exhibition of ceramics held in North America. Entitled "Ceramics International '73," it was held in Calgary and organized by the APA in conjunction with the International Academy of Ceramics and the Arts and Crafts Division of the Province of Alberta. It was a revelation to both ceramists and the general public.

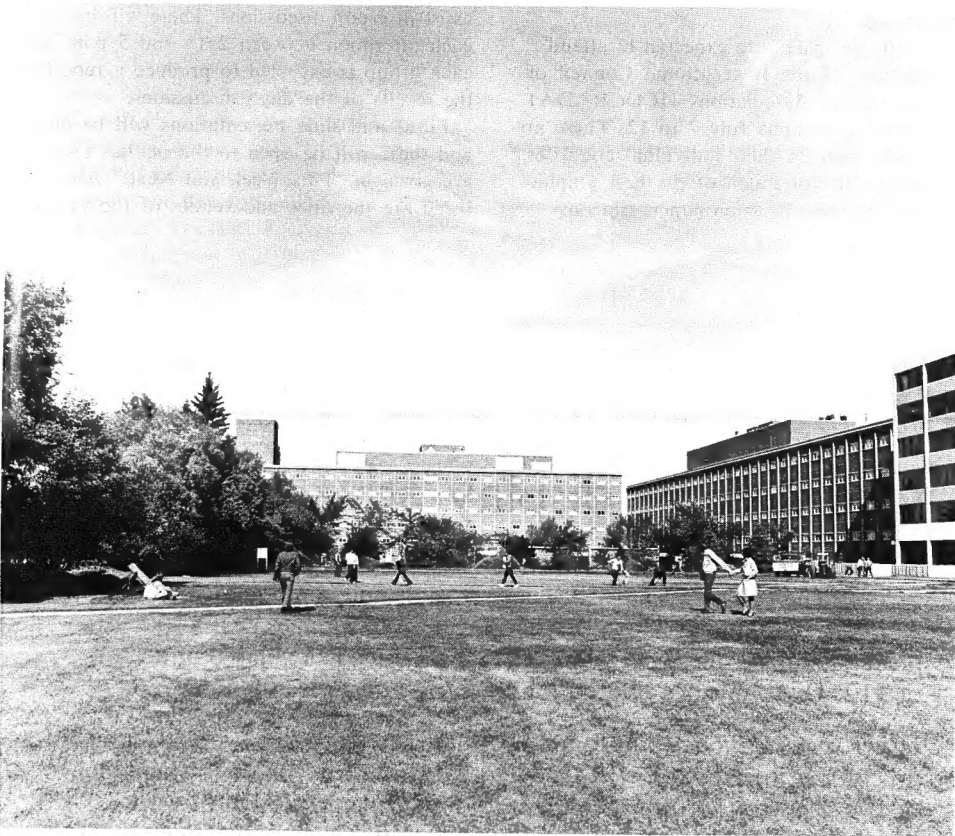

The present exhibition will be on show until August 31.

THEATRE 3 UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Mark Schoenberg has resigned his position as Associate Professor of Drama so that he can spend all his time with Theatre 3, which he co-founded with Anne Green in 1970. As resident Artistic Director he intends to devote his full time and talents to the growth and development of the company.

His program for the 1975-76 season will include Ibsen's A Doll's House (which will tour northern Alberta at the request and under the sponsorship of the provincial government); a theatrical collage based on the works of the Brothers Grimm or Hans Christian Anderson; The Broken Globe adapted by Frank Moher from a short story by Henry Kreisel; and Happy Birthday America, a satirical revue on Canadian-American relations. His other productions will be chosen from Arbuzov's The Promise, Kessler's The Watering Place, a restructured Macbeth, and a new musical version of Mandragola, currently being written.

Anne Green, who has been almost single-handedly responsible for the administration of the theatre since its inception, will be leaving Theatre 3 in the fall. Natalie Jones, Box Office Manager, will be taking over the administration in September.

Great efforts have been exerted to preserve the natural beauty of the walkway pictured above which faces temporary disruption due to the construction of Phase IV of the Services Tunnel. In the photo directly above, the area where the largest portion of the tunnel will extend is illustrated. The timing of these phases of development has been carefully planned to minimize the inconvenience to staff and students. In the photo on the right is one of the juncture points from which future expansion can be easily accommodated by extending the lines already secured for that purpose.

THE TUNNEL STORY: PART II

As a follow-up to last week's feature on the service tunnels, there are a number of interesting developments forthcoming and some already underway which will soon be apparent on campus.

Tenders were received Thursday for construction of the 170 foot stack which is to be built adjacent to the South Power Plant; construction is expected to begin early in July.

The Board of Governors has given approval to the construction of Phase IV of the Services Tunnel Complex; work will begin this December or early January. The extension will span the University quad from the Engineering Building to the opening between Pembina and Athabasca Halls and then extend behind Athabasca and Assiniboia Halls to a point just north of the Mechanical Engineering Building. There will also be a juncture from which the tunnel will later be extended to the proposed site of the new Agriculture Building.

Numerous measures have been undertaken to ensure that the landscape is preserved and disruption minimized particularly in the area of the campus's three oldest buildings. Michael Hough, a senior partner in a Toronto based consulting firm and lecturer in the Faculty of Environmental Studies at York University, has been commissioned as the University's long range landscape planner. It will be his task to ensure the preservation of one of the most prized walkways on campus. A.T. Robertson, Campus Development Project Officer, anticipates losing no more than one, or at most two trees in the course of the extensive construction necessary to complete Phase IV.

Construction is already underway for an extension to the deep sewer system in the west campus area, which is intended to provide storm and sanitary sewer service to the area centred around Athabasca Hall. This area of campus is currently serviced by an old combined storm/drainage line running to the north and connecting to the deep sewer in the vicinity of the Bioscience Centre.

The old combined line carries both storm water run-off (which requires no sewage treatment) and to a lesser degree sewage material (which does) to the Mill Creek Sewage Treatment Plant. This is not consistent with the city's plumbing codes, designed to minimize costs by eliminating the unnecessary treatment of storm water run-off. Further, the old combined line is nearing the end of its useful life and would shortly require replacement if it were to remain in service. It is the only remaining combined system on campus.
